Budgets And Financial Management In Higher Education

Synopsis

Budgets and Financial Management in Higher Education This thoroughly updated and expanded edition of the classic resource The Jossey-Bass Academic Administrator's Guide to Budgets and Financial Management will help administrators become more proficient in their financial management roles. Grounded in the latest knowledge and filled with illustrative examples from diverse institutions, as well as helpful reflection questions, the book's guidance can be put to immediate use. In addition, the authors suggest ways of avoiding common pitfalls and address what to do when faced with budget fluctuations and changing fiscal environments. "This book is vitally important for understanding the complex financial underpinnings of higher education. Could there be a more critical time for administrators to add to their knowledge in this area? I don't think so."

—EUGENE S. SUNSHINE, senior vice president for business and finance, Northwestern University "The authors have produced an easily readable and valuable resource for board members, administrators, students, faculty, or anyone interested in knowing about budgeting and the budgeting process. Their treatment of the subject is thorough and complete."

—LARRY H. DIETZ, vice chancellor for student affairs, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale "This is the best 'nitty-gritty-how-to' book on university budgeting that I have found. My graduate students at both the master's and doctoral levels have found it to be a comprehensive, insightful, and useful tool in their graduate studies."

—LINDA KUK, program chair, Higher Education Graduate Programs, and associate professor of education, Colorado State University

THE AUTHORS MARGARET J. BARR is professor emeritus in the School of Education and Social Policy at Northwestern University. She is the author or editor of numerous books and monographs and former editor-in-chief for the New Directions for Student Services series. GEORGE S. McCLELLAN is the vice chancellor for student affairs at Indiana University&#150;Purdue University Fort Wayne. He is editor, with Jeremy Stringer, of The Handbook of Student Affairs Administration, Third Edition.

I read this book as part of my investigations on sources of higher education budget and resource management. Personally, I thought there was a lot to be gained by adding it to my personal library. Barr and McClellan did not disappoint this reader. The book provided concepts, as well as, stimulating ideas for navigating the challenging terrain of financial management within higher education institutions. I will be forever grateful our instructor included this text on his recommended reading list.

I bought this for class. It's a very accessible entry-level text for understanding budgeting in higher education. It definitely focuses on large trends and qualitative elements, you will not get detailed math or spreadsheets or anything.

Excellent!

gets the job done

A great book to have in higher education.

Excellent purpose written book

Was not excited about purchasing this book for coursework, but enjoyed reading it. Very practical and informative.

arrived as described and in the timeframe
