Ludwig Bemelmans was a painter, illustrator, and writer of more than three dozen books for both adults and children. Born in 1898 in a part of Tirol now known as Merano, Italy, he came to the United States in 1914 and, after spending Christmas Eve on Ellis Island, set up residence in New York City. Before finding his voice as a writer, he worked in a hotel and ran his own restaurant. Later Bemelmans became a novelist and a nonfiction writer, as well as a frequent contributor to The New Yorker (for which he drew many covers), Town and Country, Holiday, and Vogue; and he also wrote a screenplay in Hollywood. He penned the first draft of Madeline on the backs of menus in Pete's Tavern. He is best known for his Madeline books, which rank among the most honored children's books ever. Madeline was named a Caldecott Honor Book; and the first of its five sequels, Madeline's Rescue, won the Caldecott Medal and was a New York Times Outstanding

Book of the Year. A world traveler, Bemelmans was renowned as a true cosmopolite, an irreverent and droll chronicler of the incongruous, an elegant man-about-town, a merry observer of the improbable and the absurd. He died in 1962 after completing the sixth story about Madeline, Madeline's Christmas.

I wanted to have a special quiet time activity for my grand-daughter. As I am reading Madeline books to her I thought this book would be fun. Boy was I wrong! It is GREAT fun! It is well made, the stickers are that plastic that is easy to re-use, and the sticker pages are large and colorful. Terrific for a four year old and her granny!

Another wonderful gift for a spunky five-year-old who identifies with Madeline. This will keep her busy. It's an "action" toy, not just reading, but also searching and finding and then placing the stickers where they belong. She can play with it at home on the floor, at the table after supper or in her carseat on a trip. Sticker books are fun!

The activities are cute, but the plastic, reuseable stickers in this book are awesome. We homeschool and I ordered this to go along with our Madeline story unit. She played for hours with this, letting the characters retell part of the story. And we can play with them over and over and over again, with the reuseable feature. awesome. Waay better than a standard sticker book.

My daughter has not stopped working on this activity book since she first laid Hands On it. She finished the whole thing already! :) I definitely recommend this! The drawings were so cute and the introduction was a cherry on top. " In an old house in Paris that was covered in vines...." :) ah,that never gets old! Reminds me of my childhood. ãçÂ™Â¡ãçÂ™Â¡ãçÂ™Â¡

Lots of stickers--some a bit tricky for tiny/uncoordinated hands, so may need adult help to remove them from their places initially, but overall and with a bit of care, a good sticker book.

This is a very fun activity book for young readers. It's filled with coloring pages, activity pages and lots of stickers to pplay with. The outsides of the book fold out to make long sticker activity pages to play with.

Bought for my girlfriend's two girls. They love Madeline Ages 5 & 6'

What an adorable item! It's cuter than I expected and the quality is, too. I'm sorry i didn't order two-one to use and one to keep. I collect all things Madeline.
