John Jay College of Criminal Justice, City University of New York Bio: Serena Nanda is professor emeritus of anthropology at John Jay College of Criminal Justice, City University of New York. She has published two anthropological murder mysteries, The Gift of a Bride: A Tale of Anthropology, Matrimony, and Murder, a novel set in an Indian immigrant community in New York City, and Assisted Dying: An Ethnographic Murder Mystery on Florida's Gold Coast. Her other published works include Neither Man Nor Woman: The Hijras of India, winner of the 1990 Ruth Benedict Prize; American Cultural Pluralism and Law; Gender Diversity: Cross-Cultural Variations; and a New York City guidebook, 40 Perfect New York Days: Walks and Rambles in and Around the City. She has always been captivated by the stories people tell and by the tapestry of human diversity.

Anthropology was the perfect way for her to immerse herself in these passions, and through teaching, to spread the word about the importance of understanding both human differences and human similarities. Richard L. Warms is professor of anthropology at Texas State University-San Marcos. His published works include Anthropological Theory: An Introductory History; Theory in Social and Cultural Anthropology; and An Encyclopedia And Sacred Realms: Essays In Religion, Belief, And Society. He also has written journal articles on commerce, religion, and ethnic identity in West Africa; African exploration and romanticism; and African veterans of French colonial armed forces. Warms' interests in anthropology were kindled by college courses and by his experiences as a Peace Corps Volunteer in West Africa. He has traveled extensively in Africa, Europe, Asia, and South America. He continues to teach Introduction to Cultural Anthropology but also teaches classes in anthropological theory, the anthropology of religion, economic anthropology, and film at both the undergraduate and graduate level. His current projects include a book about the development of anthropology in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Students and faculty are invited to contact him with their comments, suggestions, and questions at r.warms@txstate.edu.

This makes it so easy to study, take notes, make flashcards. This convinced me to purchase more books through my kindle for school purposes.

The book goes on about various topics, sometimes losing focus on the core of the chapter.

I had to get this textbook for my college course. While it was not something I would read otherwise had it not been required, it was well written and informative.

The book is not in good conditions. Almost all sheets are sticky and also may be broken. I paid for rent $30.49 thinking that the book will be in good condition. I couldn't return it because I am using it every day.

the terminology in this book is great and there is lots of description involved too. I enjoyed reading it in the summer

Great for anthropology beginners! I got an A in my class, I focused my studies only in the material from the book. (The teacher knew how to utilize the book)

I had to purchase this for an Anthropology class, I rarely used it because the material was covered in lecture. But the couple times I did, it was easy to understand and had vocab words highlighted in the text which was nice.

It's a wonderful book but it was hard to read due to how worn down it was. It had scratched off text and looked like it was about to fall apart but a book is a book.
