Experiments In A Jazz Aesthetic: Art, Activism, Academia, And The Austin Project (Louann Atkins Temple Women & Culture Series)

Synopsis

In Austin, Texas, in 2002, a group of artists, activists, and academics led by performance studies scholar Omi Osun Joni L. Jones formed the Austin Project (tAP), which meets annually in order to provide a space for women of color and their allies to build relationships based on trust, creativity, and commitment to social justice by working together to write and perform work in the jazz aesthetic. Inspired by this experience, this book is both an anthology of new writing and a sourcebook for those who would like to use creative writing and performance to energize their artistic, scholarly, and activist practices. Theoretical and historical essays by Omi Osun Joni L. Jones describe and define the African American tradition of art-making known as the jazz aesthetic, and explain how her own work in this tradition inspired her to start tAP. Key artists in the tradition, from Bessie Awardâ “winning choreographer Laurie Carlos and writer/performer Robbie McCauley to playwrights Daniel Alexander Jones and Carl Hancock Rux, worked with the women of tAP as mentors and teachers. This book brings together never-before-published, must-read materials by these nationally known artists and the transformative writing of tAP participants. A handbook for workshop leaders by Lambda Literary Awardâ “winning writer Sharon Bridgforth, tAP’s inaugural anchor artist, offers readers the tools for starting similar projects in their own communities. A full-length script of the 2005 tAP performance is an original documentation of the collaborative, breath-based, body work of the jazz aesthetic in theatre, and provides both a script for use by theatre artists and an invaluable documentation of a major transformative movement in contemporary performance.

OMI OSUN JONI L. JONES is Director of the John L. Warfield Center for African and African American Studies and Associate Professor of Performance Studies in the Department of Theatre and Dance at the University of Texas at Austin. LISA L. MOORE is Associate Professor of English and Women's and Gender Studies at the University of Texas at Austin. SHARON BRIDGFORTH is the Lambda Literary Award "winning author of the bull-jean stories and love conjure/blues. She is a member of New Dramatists and served as the Anchor Artist for the Austin Project from 2002-2009.

Omi Osun Joni L. Jones has brought together the narrative behind The Austin Project along with valuable assistance for those who would like to borrow from or duplicate the project. The anthologizing of several years worth of writing & performance makes this community effort powerful for the reader. If you are interesting in community development around an issue, women's issues, those of women of color, or community activism in general, this book provides both inspiration and practical suggestions on how to achieve your goal. Thanks to Omi and all the women (and men) associated with The Austin Project.
